One thousand, seven hundred and fifty dollars of Hanna's bribe money has turned up and been produced in the investigation. A little thing like that, however, will not materially effect his standing in the U. S. Senate.

The San Francisco Bulletin tries to make its readers believe that Bryan has come out and made a reply to McEwen. It prints Bryan's picture at the head of the article and when you get over on the next page to the end of the letter it is signed by Richard Metcalf, editor of an Omaha paper that Bryan was once connected with.

The woman who wedded Swiftwater Bill for his fortune is already after a divorce. He is said to be coarse brutal fellow with nothing in his favor but his gold, which he refuses to give up to her.

The article of the Gazette is an illustration of the old rule in Nevada. When ever a newspaper man gets near the public crib the other news paper at once begins to jump on him.

La Fronde is the title of a new daily paper published in Paris which is edited, printed and named entirely by women. It is published in a handsome building of its own, and treats of all matters of interest to women from gowns to political equality. One of its objects is to secure to French women the same amount of respect in France that American women already enjoy in America.

State Senator Munroe has introduced in the Illinois Legislature a bill releasing the property of women from taxes so long as the right of suffrage is denied to women.
